

An In-Depth Profile of the Affluent Internet and Social Media User

Table of Contents

- Major Findings & Take Action Steps
- Objectives of the Survey
- The Research Methodology
- Demographics
- Summary of Findings
- Who Are the Heavy Internet Luxury Shoppers?
- Heavy-Users Purchase More Luxuries for Their Home
- Heavy-Users Purchase More Personal Luxuries
- Heavy-Users Purchase More Experiences
- Heavy Internet Shoppers Spend about Twice as Much on Luxury
- Heavy Internet Shoppers Are Heavy Users of Luxury
- Where They Shopped Online
- Websites that Attract More Young Affluents
- Heavy Users Do All the Same Things Online
- Heavy Users Spend More Time Online
- Heavy-users spend more than twice as much time as regular affluents shopping online.
- Trends in Hours Used for Internet Shopping
- Search and Brand Experience Draws Internet Shoppers
- Trends in What Draws Affluents to a Website
- Affluents Expect All Access to their Favorite Brands Through the Internet
- Spending on the Internet
- What Internet Shopping Gives Affluents
- Trends in Features Important in Internet Shopping
- Affluents Use Best of Internet and In-store Shopping
- Trends in Luxury Website Features
- List of the Most Important Features for a Luxury Website
- Best Practices: Luxury Marketers Must Be publishers of Meaningful Content
- Affluents Enjoy Internet Shopping Just as Much as In Store – And Some Enjoy It More
- Profiles on Social Media

- Their Most Active Social Networking Site
- Social Media Is About Listening to Consumers -- Brands Can't Afford to be Deaf to What Customers Are Saying
- Demographic Profile of Affluent Social Media Users
- Trends in Social Media Use
- Social Networking by the Numbers
- Facebook is the Priority Social Media Sites
- Why Affluents Use Social Media
- Different Ways Men and Women Use Social Media
- Social Media Used to Connect to Brands
- More on Affluent Brand Friends
- Why Affluents Friend Brands via Social Media
- Affluents Want Access to News They Can Use – and Savings
- For Those Not Now Friends of a Brand, Few Are Likely to Connect
- Brands need to Give people a reason why They should 'friend' them
- Affluents Don't Pay Much Attention to Online Ads
- What Influences Purchase
- Social Media is Not About Selling Products, but Building Relationships
- Social Shopping Sites
- Social Shopping Sites Are Up and Coming