

Chapter 1: Overview Luxury Market Study 8

Overview8
Figure: Leading luxury marketers' revenues, 2000-2004..... 9

New Luxury Market Paradigm — From Things to Experiences9
 Baby boomers are the new luxury generations 10
 Research Objectives..... 11

Research Methodology 13
 Phase 1: Qualitative Focus Groups 13
 Phase 2: Quantitative Online Survey Research 13
 Income Distribution 14
Figure: Income demographics, 2004 & 2003 sample 14
 Gender Distribution 15
Figure: Gender distribution, 2004-2002 survey sample..... 15
 Age Distribution 16
Figure: Age distribution and generations, 2004-2003 survey sample..... 16

Chapter 2: About the Luxury Market..... 19

Overview of Luxury Market 19
Figure: Total number of households by income..... 19
Figure: Total number of affluent households 20

Demographics of the Top 25 Percent of Americans 22

Affluent Make More, Spend More and Save More 23
Figure: Annual expenditures, 2003: Average U.S. household compared with affluent..... 24

Trends in Affluence 24
Figure: Households by age and income, 2003..... 25

Lifestage Changes Impacting the Luxury Market..... 26
Figure: Triggers for luxury purchases, 2004 and projected 2005 26

Luxury Consumers Rose from Middle-Class Backgrounds 28
Figure: Financial status of family of origin..... 29

Luxury Consumers' Personal Confidence Rose at End of 2004 29
Figure: Luxury consumption index, 2004..... 30

Luxury Consumers Feel Far Better Off Financially Now Than Last Year..... 32
Figure: Financial feelings this year compared with 12 months ago..... 32

Luxury Consumers Expressed Some Negativity in Economy as a Whole 33
Figure: Financial feelings about the country overall, 2004 year end..... 33

Luxury Consumers Very Confident of Their Personal Ability to Handle Economic Turmoil..... 34
Figure: Financial status next 12 months, 2004 year end..... 34

Luxury Spending Remains Positive at end of 2004 35

Deleted: — DRAFT

Figure: Spending trends on luxury, 2004-2003 35

Over 70 Percent Will Spend More or the Same on Luxuries in Coming Twelve Months 37

Figure: Expected spending on luxury next 12 months 2004..... 37

Chapter 3: About Luxury and Why People Buy Luxury 38

Luxury Consumers Yearn for Experiences 38

Figure: Greatest source of luxury satisfaction and happiness, 2004-2003 39

Luxury Is Not About Having and Owning, But About the Experience..... 41

Inner Life of Luxury Consumer Points to Self-Actualization as Primary Motivator for Luxury 42

Maslow's Hierarchy of Needs..... 43

When Things Are Not Enough; Luxury Consumers Express Desire for Experiences 44

Pleasure and Enjoyment in Luxury Living Enhances Consumers' Quality of Life 45

Figure: Motivators for luxury purchases..... 45

Chapter 4: About Luxury Purchases and Spending 49

Overview of Luxury Purchasing Behavior 49

Figure: Luxury purchase incidence: home luxuries, personal luxuries, experiential luxuries 2004-2002 49

Figure: Total spending on luxuries, 2004 & 2003..... 50

What Luxuries People Buy 51

Figure: Luxury purchase incidence: details of home luxuries, personal luxuries, experiential luxuries 2004-2002 52

How Much They Spent on Luxuries in 2004 53

Figure: Total spending on luxuries, details 2004 & 2003 53

Luxury Consumers Spent More on Many Luxuries in 2004 54

Super-Affluents Spent Four Times More than Near-Affluents and Twice as Much as Affluents 55

Figure: Total spending on luxuries, by income segment 2004..... 56

GenXers Spent more than Boomers on Luxury 57

Figure: Total spending on luxuries, by generation (boomers and genXers) 2004..... 57

Men Spent More than Women on Luxury, but if Automobiles Are Taken Out of the Equation, Women Outspent Men 58

Figure: Total spending on luxuries, by gender 2004..... 58

Where Luxury Shoppers Shop for Luxury:

In Personal Luxuries Department Stores Are Number One 59

Figure: Where luxury consumers shop for personal luxury, 2004..... 59

Luxury Shoppers Are Bargain Shoppers 60

Figure: Last purchase bought on sale or at discount, 2004 & 2003 60

Getting a Deal Is Strong Influence to Purchase 62

Deleted: — DRAFT

Figure: Price's influence on last luxury purchase 62

Luxury Shoppers Seek Bargains in order to Feel like a Smart Shopper 63

Figure: Attitudes about shopping 63

Role of Luxury Brand In Last Purchase 64

Figure: Importance of brand to purchase decision 65

About Luxury Consumers' Attitude toward Luxury 67

Figure: Attitudes about luxury 69

Luxury Consumers Are Not Spendthrifts, Rather They Are Careful About Their Money 70

Chapter 5: About Butterflies and Other Segments in Luxury Market 71

Four Segments Identified in Luxury Market 71

Figure: Luxury segmentation analysis 72

Butterflies Emerge as Largest Luxury Consumer Segment 73

Figure: Field guide to the luxury market segments 75

Butterflies Have Emerged from Their Luxurious Cocoons 76

Butterflies Spend Freely on Luxury 77

Luxury Cocooners Are Still Enveloped in Their Luxury Cocoons 77

Cocooners Spend More on Home and Home-Focused Experiential Luxuries 78

Luxury Aspirers Have Not Yet Reached the Level of Luxury To Which They Aspire 78

X-Fluents Live the Lifestyle of the 'Rich and Famous' 78

X-Fluents Spend More on Luxury 79

Chapter 6: About Automobilers and Personal Luxuries 80

Indulgence in Personal Luxuries Remained Even in 2004 80

Figure: Personal luxuries purchase incidence, 2004-2002 80

Total Personal Luxury Spending Nearly Doubled in 2004, while Spending on Automobiles Rose 31 percent 81

Figure: Personal luxury and automobile spending, 2004-2003 81

Super-Affluents Are Most Extravagant Spenders on Personal Luxuries 82

Figure: Personal luxury spending by income segment, 2004 82

GenXers Spent just a Bit more than Boomers on Personal Luxuries 83

Figure: Personal luxury spending by generation, 2004 83

Women Spent More than Men on Personal Luxuries, but Men Spent More on Cars 84

Figure: Personal luxury spending by gender, 2004 84

Influences on Personal Luxury and Automobile Purchases 84

Personal Luxury Brand Loyalty Index Finds Automobiles, followed by Cosmetics and

Watches Are Most Branded Categories 85

Deleted: — DRAFT

Figure: Personal luxury brand loyalty index 85
 In Personal Luxuries, Brand Is More Important than Price/Value 86

Figure: Influencers of personal luxury purchases 86
 Personal Luxuries Are Bought On Sale, Except for Cosmetics 88

Figure: Personal luxuries bought on sale, 2004 88

Department Stores, Specialty Luxury Retailers and Internet/Mail Order/TV Shopping Were Top Choices for Personal Luxury Shoppers 89
Figure: Where luxury consumers shop for personal luxuries, 2004 89

Automobile & Recreational Vehicle Luxury Purchase Behavior Overview 90
 Purchase Incidence 90
 Spending by demographic segment 91
 Purchase Motivation 92
 Luxury car equals luxury brand 92
 Ordinary brand, luxury features 93
 Luxury car is one not needed 94

Apparel and Clothing Purchase Behavior Overview 95
 Purchase Incidence 95
 Spending by demographic segment 95
 Where People Buy 96
 Purchase Motivation 97

Fashion Accessories Luxury Purchase Behavior 98
 Purchase Incidence 98
 Spending by demographic segment 99
 Where People Buy Fashion Accessories 100

Fragrances, Cosmetics and/or Beauty Products Luxury Purchase Behavior Overview 101
 Purchase Incidence 101
 Spending by demographic segment 102
 Where People Buy 103
 Purchase Motivation 103

Jewelry and/or Watches Luxury Purchase Behavior Overview 105
 Purchase Incidence 105
 Spending by demographic segment 106
 What They Bought: Men's and Women's Jewelry Bought by type 107

Deleted: — DRAFT

Where People Buy 109

Top Jewelry Brands 110

Purchase Motivation 110

Chapter 7: About Luxury Market Trends 113

Trend #1 — ‘New Luxury’ Paradigm Shifts to Experience 113

Two ways to define luxury: intrinsically and consumer-centrally 114

Example: Transforming luxury tabletop from the ‘thing’ to an experience 116

Trend #2 — Younger Generation X Consumers Are Moving into Affluence 117

Lifestage Marketing Impacts Luxury Purchase Patterns 118

Figure: Personal satisfaction by generation 118

Distribution of Households by Generation and Income 120

Figure: U.S. households by income and generation, 2003 120

Generations of Affluence 121

Figure: Affluent households by generation, 2003 121

Figure: Total luxury spending by generations, 2004 122

Trend #3 — The Rich Really Are Different — They Spend a Whole Lot More on Luxury 123

Figure: Percent of income spent on luxury by income segment, 2004 124

Figure: Spending difference by income segment, 2004 125

Figure: Luxury market potential by income segment, 2004 126

Trend #4 — Connecting Replacing Cocooning As Prime Consumer Trend 127

Trend #5 — Internet Must Be Strategic Thrust for Luxury Marketers 129

Figure: Where luxury consumers shop — non-store 130

Figure: At-home internet users March 2003 and 2004 131

Figure: Internet rated very/somewhat important in last luxury purchase decision: home luxury; personal luxury; experiential luxury 132

Trend #6 — Luxury Marketers Must Continue to Inflate Luxury Values 134

Trend #7 — Brand’s Role in Luxury Purchasing Will Increase 137

Figure: Luxury brand loyalty index 138

Brands justify purchase; they are not the reason why they buy 139

Luxury triple play: Product brand, dealer’s brand, price/value interact to make sales 142

Figure: Influencers on luxury purchases 143

Personal Luxury Brands: Key Strategic Opportunities 144

Brands must perform — Luxury brands must satisfy luxury consumers’ expectations 145

Luxury brands connect corporate strategy with consumer psychology 146

New luxury branding paradigm: Must encompass product feature and consumer values 148

Deleted: — DRAFT

Trend # 8 — Luxury Consumers Are Savvy Shoppers That Demand Greater & Greater Value..... 153
Trend #9 — Luxury Must Extend Throughout the Entire Buying Cycle 158
Trend #10: Next Luxury Boom Will be in Luxury Services..... 161
Trend #11 — Everyone Everywhere Wants More Luxury..... 163
 Luxury Is Subjective & Different for Everyone..... 165
 Luxury Is No Longer a Noun, It's a Verb 166

Trend #12 — Exclusivity Is Not Motivating to Luxury Consumers — We Need to Strive to Deliver More Specialness to Luxury Consumers 166

Deleted: — DRAFT